With contracts using more and more complicated formulas stipulating how residuals are paid to members, producers should rely on experts who work closely with the unions and guilds to ensure residual payments and reporting are being processed accurately and on schedule.

Residuals Payroll

At Media Services, we offer the most efficient, cost-effective method of managing clients' residual obligations. We process residuals for productions large and small, whether it is for theatrical release, DVD, television, cable, or new media.

Using our state-of-the-art residuals system, we ensure employees are paid in compliance with their collective bargaining agreements. Our system enables us to quickly readjust clients' residual payments as needed.

It also enables us to provide clients with a detailed residuals schedule, an effective tool for forecasting their residual obligations for television production. By calculating different scenarios, we assist clients in making more informed decisions about their next project.

Our residuals department generates invoices and reports using a simple format, and maintains all records and printouts in accordance with each client's residual service agreement. We report and pay all associated payroll tax deductions and employer tax contributions as well as handle all necessary filings and mailings.

Let Media Services' in-house team of experts assist you with all your residuals needs.
